

RAINY RIVER FIRST NATIONS
MANITOU RAPIDS

COMMUNICATIONS

RAINY RIVER FIRST NATIONS COMMUNICATIONS DEPARTMENT

Communications is one of the fastest growing and evolving fields in today's society. Our society has been altered by new developments in medical technologies. Communication skills have become essential in almost every industry, particularly Rainy River First Nations, who promotes its members to understand and participate in the changes happening within our community. Rainy River First Nations is positioning themselves as leaders in the Information Age and working towards improving their social media presence.

OUR OBJECTIVE

To get information out to its members by initiating, executing and support the roles and activities of Rainy River First Nations in the areas of internal and external communication, media relations, education and promotional plans and publication management.

WHAT WE DO

Build and maintain the membership database

Community newsletters

Administer solar per cap payments, keeps accurate records of payments to date

Create and maintain RRFN's website and monitor all content

Assist in planning, organizing, and implementing various communications initiatives with RRFN staff members

Prepare and assist in the preparation of audiovisual material for RRFN

Develop, implement and evaluate communication strategies for programs designed to inform community members, various levels of governments and the general public about RRFN.

Gather, research and edit communication material for internal/external audiences

Oversee preparation of reports, articles, briefings, etc.

Document production and distribution of fact sheets, newsletters and handouts

Respond to issues and concerns from the community members related to communications activities

For more information please contact:

Kathy Bombay

Community Communications Officer

(807) 482-2479 Ext. 222

communications.rrfn@bellnet.ca